Champions are Built not Born

What makes him (Loh Kean Yew, left) a Champion?

But Loh has preached the same mantra over and over again – consistency, consistency, consistency.

Just as quickly as his performance spiked, he knew that it could also easily dip.

Champions are Built through routines

Loh is also dealing with the weight of expectations, which has affected his performance and that in turn has eaten into some of his confidence.

“(The struggle is) handling pressure which is part of it ... handling expectations. And of course to find my old form, how to keep playing (at) my best kind of form,” he explained.
